

09

Your Individual Rights

Your right to raise a concern with an organisation

If you're concerned about the way an organisation is handling your information, because it:

is not keeping your information secure holds inaccurate information about you

has disclosed information about you is keeping information about you for longer than is necessary

has collected information for one reason and is using it for something else

Write to them to raise your concerns.

FIND OUT MORE
www.jerseyoic.org